Megan Wagner is an experienced attorney who practices in civil litigation including trucking and transportation litigation, auto liability, premises and product liability, insurance defense, general civil litigation, labor and employment law, and workers' compensation law.

Prior to coming to Harman Claytor, Megan's background includes working as a civil litigator and workers' compensation attorney in the Richmond area and as a high-volume litigator in Chicago. She also held positions as Judicial Extern to the Honorable Elizabeth Loredo-Rivera in the Cook County Circuit Court in Chicago and as a Federal Judicial Extern to the Honorable Jack Schmetterer in the United States Bankruptcy Court, Northern District of Illinois.

Megan's interest and experience in trucking and transportation includes completing tank truck 101 training from a renowned Richmond-area trucking company, engaging with the Virginia Trucking Association leadership, and growing up as the daughter of small trucking company owner/operator in rural Indiana.

Megan now resides in the Richmond area with her family. They enjoy reading, swimming, running, and exploring Richmond together.
