

Auto Liability Defense

Harman Claytor Corrigan Wellman's Automobile Liability Practice Group has offices in both Virginia and the Washington, DC area with extensive experience in auto accident law or auto liability litigation. Our auto liability attorneys represent and defend clients with auto-related claims involving individuals, corporations, insurance companies, rental companies and self-insurers. No matter the severity of the auto accident, from minor injuries to multiple fatalities, our auto accident defense attorneys have the necessary skills and experience to effectively represent and defend your auto liability case throughout the claims process.

To ensure you receive the customized attention you need, our Automobile Liability Group assembles a team of auto accident investigators, accident reconstructionists, engineers and medical experts to assess the claim, as directed by your case. Through our in-depth experience in auto accident case evaluation, we also work with you to determine whether early resolution is advisable. If it is not, we leverage our considerable trial experience in Virginia's state and federal courts to help you receive your desired outcome.
