THE CIVIL LITIGATION FIRM

Commercial and Business Litigation

Harman Claytor's Commercial and Business Litigation Practice Group has offices in both Virginia and the Washington, DC area and assertively represents clients in a wide variety of commercial and business litigation. From the start of our relationship, we efficiently and effectively approach these cases with the sole goal of achieving your desired outcome.

Each client we serve has a different commercial and business enterprise behind them. To ensure our solutions are customized to your needs, we work hard to understand your business's unique details and the accompanying effect litigation may have on it. Once we develop thorough knowledge of your specific situation, we pursue the strategy most appropriate for your business needs.

Our Commercial and Business Litigation Practice Group has experience in the following commercial and corporate claims:

- Contract Disputes
- Intellectual Property Disputes
- General Business Tort Actions
- Real Estate Disputes

We focus on resolving matters using cost-effective methods, such as alternative dispute resolution, mediation and arbitration. To help clients minimize risk and avoid litigation, we provide affirmative counseling. There are times, however, when a claim must go to court. Should this situation arise, we approach litigation as both a business and legal problem, and work hard on your behalf throughout every legal step. We regularly represent clients and have extensive experience before juries, judges and administrative agencies.
