THE CIVIL LITIGATION FIRM

Transportation and Trucking

Harman Claytor's Transportation Practice Group has offices in both Virginia and the Washington, DC area dedicated to zealously and efficiently representing and defending the full range of transportation companies, from the largest fleets in North America to individual owner/operators. When engaging a client, we emphasize early response to losses and specialize in gathering and preserving evidence.

Because every minute counts in a transportation claim, we ensure timely responses to your claim with Transportation attorneys and a team of accident reconstruction experts, field adjusters and criminal defense attorneys who are on call 24-hours a day, 7-days a week.

Additionally, when commercial vehicle accidents involve catastrophic injuries, we skillfully handle the complicated medical issues these cases present.

Our Transportation Group attorneys are seasoned litigators and members of TIDA, DRI Transportation Section and Transportation Lawyers Association, and regularly participate in the ABA Transportation MegaConference and the Arkansas Trucking Seminar. They travel throughout the country providing expertise in legal risk management and trucking safety to trucking companies, insurers and others.

When representing transportation civil litigation claims, we handle cases involving:

- Interstate and Intrastate Carriers
- Haulers
- Freight Handlers
- Transportation and Trucking Service Providers
- Releases of Hazardous Materials
